

Iggy Pop and The Stooges took to the stage at the United Palace Theater, and proved that some things just don't change. Pawn actually remembers going to see Iggy at Milwaukee's lovely Riverside Theater almost twenty years ago, and deciding that the balcony was the safest place from which to enjoy the show. At the United Palace, Iggy invited the audience to "Invade the stage" and they took him up on it.
More coverage here: Music Review | Iggy Pop and The Stooges