

ABC News fires off a rapier quip at the over-polished Romney campaign: Former governor Mitt Romney's camp is wasting no time in seeking to capitalize on McCain's bad news. Politico's Jonathan Martin gets a hold of an e-mail circulated among Romney's Michigan supporters that reveals the behind-the-scenes poaching. "We are currently reaching out to our friends who are supporters of the Senator's to see if sometime in the future they may wish to join our Grassroots team." Good that "Grassroots" is capitalized — makes it sound really official.

The Note: Iraq Policy at Standstill Despite Unease