

"My Dress Whispers 'Reckless,' I Don't Feel Right"

Words found in a Google search, from a web page no longer extant. I'll just put them here for safe keeping, 'til a use can be found for them.

"Her dress whispers reckless" comes from the Hey Monday song, "Josey" but the next line should be "The night starts now as she slips on her necklace."

The phrase has taken on new life, however, in teen girl's blog postings and titles. This particular instance, however, seems to have been scrubbed since being written. Perhaps because the post went on to describe self destructive behavior.