An angry man dismissed his muse as nothing more than an elaborate ruse and shoved her out the door but despite this act which left him alone he found he still couldn't write a good poem.