

Sunday no shows, but a leisurely wander through parts of East London including Spitalfield Market, Brick Lane and Commercial Street. We bought some cheap scarves and some snacks, including a brownie layered with salted caramel and dark chocolate, which should be illegal! Here, then, are some snapshots from the day:

Graffiti along Commercial Street

X gets into it with some graffiti

A wry comment from the citizenry

Found in a close off of White Chapel Road

Street scene with Miss Chu, White Chapel Road

That's all.Â We watched the BAFTA awards (British Film) and had a night in.
Ciao!